Kaffirs Are Born Liars. Kaffir makes an interesting study. You cannot understand him all at once. It requires time, and a good deal of it. A new arrival thinks the Kaffir is a born prevaricator of the truth and has his reasons for so think-

Suppose you catch a "boy" commit-ting a misdemeanor. Ask him what he has been deing, and he will look up in your face, a picture of innocence, and reply, "Ikona, baas"-a plump denial. Tell him you saw him do it, threaten him with punishment; he will still persist in maintaining his innocence. He will still plead ignorance of the misdeed and mutter in astonish ment or fear, "Ikona, bass." In fact, he knows nothing whatever about it. If the offense be one that cannot be overlooked, you proceed to administer reproof-with the foot, if you are not particular and wish to be impressive. What does he do? If he is a raw "boy" and not used to it, he runs off with a terrified look on his face; if he is used to it, he retires precipitately with a satisfied smile, not necessarily because he has got the thrashing, but because he no longer has it to look for-

The only explanation for the systematle lying of the native in face of the most convincing proof is that the native mind is totally unable to form a conception of what we understand by truthfulness.-London Mail.

An "American" Duel.

During my residence in Heidelberg 8 lamentable and terrible affair took place that threw a profound gloom over the university and the entire town. Two German students, having quarreled, decided the earth was not large enough for both of them to live in and resorted to the diabolical practice called the "American duel." In a darkened room the two young men drew lots, having sworn that he who drew the black ball would commit suicide. The unhappy loser went to his room and discharged a bullet into his breast, but missed his heart and lingered for several days on his deathbed. His parents were summoned by telegraph and besought him on their knees to disclose the name of his antagonist, but he steadfastly refused and died with the secret in his breast. The students not only excused his conduct, but praised his courage, and when his remains were taken to the railway station to be transported to a distant city they accompanied the funeral cortege with torches and music. cide, for he was killed in an honorable duel, and they maintained that his opponent was not accessory to bis a because he shot himself. I had many arguments with them and never could convince them of their extraordinary tergiversation.-Science.

Fooled the Crowd.

Some people will go to great trouble and expense to perpetrate a joke. The other day two well known society men hired a closed carriage and decorated it with bows of white ribbon and flowers and other paraphernalia belonging to a well appointed wedding. On each side was hung a placard announcing that the occupants were just

It attracted great atten it pulled up in front of the Galt House a few days ago a large crowd had congregated to see the happy bride and groom alight. The driver slowly got down from his seat beside the door.

He opened it deliberately, and when he swung the door open the curious crowd surged forward. There was no bride and no groom inside, but instead a big placard bearing in great black letters the single word, "Rubber,"

For a little while the driver had the joke to himself, but soon the crowd realized the neat swindle, and all enjoyed the episode hugely.-Louisville
